

TITLE: Duilio Ramallo and Boston Partners All-Cap Value Fund Profiled in *Barron's

In early February, Barron's profiled Boston Partners Portfolio Manager Duilio Ramallo and the Boston Partners All-Cap Value Fund.

The article, "Steering Clear of the Bumps," highlighted how Duilio and the investment team apply Boston Partners' three-circle approach — seeking cheap stocks, solid fundamentals and positive business momentum — to provide an analytical edge while avoiding value traps.

"Valuation, fundamentals, and momentum have worked historically, and if I can find stocks with those characteristics, I think I can stack the odds in my favor," Duilio told the reporter, Daren Fonda.

The Boston Partners All-Cap Value Fund seeks to provide long-term growth of capital through investing in a diversified portfolio of equities across the capitalization spectrum and identified as having value characteristics. The strategy is delivered through a separate account and a mutual fund (tickers: BPAVX, Investor Class; BPAIX, Institutional Class)

Duilio Ramallo has managed the Boston Partners All-Cap Value Fund since 2007. He serves as the primary portfolio manager of the fund and is a senior portfolio manager of the Advisor, responsible for managing the Boston Partners Premium Equity portfolios.
